

Help For The Forgotten Man Will Be Help
For Britain And Should Speed Return Of Peace

"All farmers are entitled to a better deal," says Harry Scott, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

"The farmer is the forgotten man just now and the farmer's present handicaps and hardships will show up later in a serious lack of food supplies," declares Mr. Scott.

Mr. Scott, who is also president of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association, declares that farmers are going to turn to more profitable lines than the production of milk, and that "there is bound to be a milk shortage."

For two reasons, there should be immediate federal government action to improve the farmer's reward, through bonusing or price-fixing.

One is to assure production of the food which Britain expects from Canada to carry her through the fight against Hitler, and to help build up the food surplus for the needy peoples of Europe which Professor Gilbert Jackson says "might well shorten the struggle, not by months, but years."

Second is justice to an important section of our population. One-third of our population — the farming community — now receive one-tenth of the national income.

Prime Minister King says that agriculture is the war's first casualty. Action now to improve the farmer's position in a radical way would be an earnest of the different kind of world which we all want and hope for after this war is over.

Town people should be conscious of the farmer's plight and should help him fight his way back to a Canadian standard of living.

Nonagenarian Had Sons In Four Armies In Last War*MRS. AGNES CARRICK IS REMARKABLE LADY,
LOVES TRAVEL

Mrs. Agnes Carrick, Gorham St., will celebrate her 90th birthday next month. She has four of her children living right near her, and another in Aurora.

Mrs. Carrick lives with her son, Joseph, Newmarket express driver, while Andrew Carrick, Mrs. H. M. Gladman (Christina), and Mrs. Agnes Montgomery, other members of her family, are also Newmarket residents. Another daughter, Mrs. Jean Morton, lives in Aurora.

This is unusual because Mrs. Carrick was born in Falkirk, Scotland, and did not come to Newmarket, Canada, until she was 70 years of age. She has lived here since, except for a visit of about a year's duration back to Scotland, made when she was 78 years old.

Altogether Mrs. Carrick had 14 children, eight of whom are still living. A son and a daughter live in South Africa, and another son lives in Scotland.

During the last war Mrs. Carrick had three sons and a son-in-law serving for the British, but all in different forces.

GOES TO PARRY SOUND

Miss Anna Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis, Yonge St., a member of the staff of St. Thomas vocational school, is dietitian at a large hotel at Parry Sound for the summer.

Andrew served with the Scottish imperial forces. Peter was with the South African forces. Bill was with the New Zealand forces, while her son-in-law, H. M. Gladman, was with the Canadian forces, in the machine-gun corps.

Two of her sons, Andrew and Bill, had the odd experience of meeting while they were both serving at Gallipoli, the first time they had seen each other in six years.

Mrs. Carrick, who has command of her faculties and keeps house for her son, tells interesting stories of her early life in Scotland, when as a girl she would travel to Glasgow via the canal, the boat pulled by horses on shore. When going for a long walk the farm girls would take off their boots and walk barefoot. At 90 she still enjoys motoring and loves "going places."

'Turk' Doyle, One Of Town's Best-Known Athletes, Dies*NEWMARKET MAN DIES WHILE SLEEPING IN HIS CAR

Famed as a sportsman and athlete, and a popular member of one of Newmarket's best known families, Ernest A. ("Turk") Doyle, died Wednesday evening.

He had been on a business trip which had taken him around Lake Simcoe and at Jackson's Point some younger people who accompanied him suggested that they would like to dance for a while. Mr. Doyle said he would sleep in the car while they danced.

They left him at 10 o'clock and about 11 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Donaldson, passing the car, noticed him there and soon saw that he had died in his sleep. His head was resting on his left side and it was thought that perhaps this had placed undue pressure on his heart. Dr. O. M. Beattie was called.

Born in Newmarket 54 years ago, Ernest Doyle was the son of Ellen Haskett and Stephen Doyle. He starred in lacrosse, hockey, baseball, running and all outdoor sports.

He was a life member of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and at one time coached the Wallaceburg lacrosse team. He coached a Kirkland Lake hockey team and Paris intermediate hockey team when they won the O.H.A. championship. "Turk" Doyle was also known as a popular lacrosse and hockey official.

Mr. Doyle was not married. During the last war he served in the Canadian air force, but did not get overseas.

GIRL DROWNS TRYING TO RESCUE YOUNGSTER

Nineteen-year-old Grace Finnegan of Toronto was drowned at Musselman's Lake last week, in an effort to rescue her nine-year-old nephew, Donald Mowat, of York township. The boy was brought to safety.

RAINS ARE WELCOME

Heavy rains fell in the Newmarket district on Monday, although some spots missed the welcome moisture. Kettloby, for instance, didn't get its share of the "manna." The rain was worth thousands of dollars to farmers.

The Era will be mailed to subscribers for half the regular subscription price, that is, $1 a year.

at the Office Specialty Co., later was in the life insurance business, and latterly for some years has been a sales representative of Canadian Breweries.

One of a family of 12 brothers and sisters, four brothers and five sisters survive him: Thomas F., prominent Newmarket merchant, Fred and Frank, both of Toronto, and Harry, Newmarket; Miss Minnie Doyle, Newmarket; Mrs. J. Harry Fee (Rose), Sault Ste. Marie, Mrs. Frank Duncan (Irene), Newmarket, Mrs. George Osborne (Ann), Newmarket, and Miss Grace Doyle, Newmarket.

Rev. Dr. W. D. Muckle will conduct the funeral service at St. John's church at 9.30 a.m. D.S.T. Saturday. Interment will be in St. John's cemetery.

Near the farm of Stanley Eves a tree was struck to the ground by lightning.

"I SAW YOUR AD IN THE ERA"

An unsolicited tribute comes to The Era from E. F. Streeter, Newmarket market gardener. Last week Mr. Streeter advertised new potatoes, broad-beans and raspberries. This week he phoned to advertise raspberries only, as the new vegetables had been "over-subscribed."

Later he telephoned to say: "I just wanted you to know how far Era advertising goes. I just received a letter from Parry Sound ordering two crates of raspberries, and saying, 'I saw your ad in The Era.'"

MRS. "BOB" MANNING DIES, WIDELY MISSED

A kindly and unselfish woman, widely known and greatly liked, Mrs. Robert E. Manning died at the home of her daughter in Toronto on Tuesday. She had been ill for several weeks. Mrs. Manning was in her 73rd year. Born near Newmarket, Elizabeth Ida Wilson lived in Newmarket most of her life. She married Robert E. Manning, blacksmith and in younger days known as a lacrosse star, of Newmarket, 48 years ago.

She was active in church work and the women's organizations of Trinity United church, and worked as a member of the Red Cross Society both during this war and the last war.

Besides her husband, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. C. M. Brodie (Leila) of Toronto, one sister and three brothers, Howard, in western Canada, Mrs. Nelson Taylor, in western Canada, and twin brothers, Henry Wilson, North Dakota, and Harry Wilson, in western Canada.

Rev. Dr. A. E. Runnells and Rev. R. R. McMath conducted a funeral service at the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose this afternoon. Pallbearers were six nephews: Fred Proctor, Newmarket, Walter Proctor, Newmarket, Eugene Proctor, Kitchener, Wilbert Cody, Aurora, LeRoy Cody, Toronto, Allen Cody, Newmarket.

Interment was in Newmarket cemetery.

Of Mazo De La Roche

An aluminum plaque the size of a 50-cent piece picked up near the town dump on Queen St. will recall memories to some of the old-timers.

Bob Rush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rush, picked up the plaque, which says on one side, "Adequate protection for Canada. Public ownership, 1904," and on the other, "Elect Roche, the Borden candidate, God save the King."

This was Frank (Francis James) Roche, uncle of Mazo de La Roche, Canadian novelist. Mr. Roche ran against Sir William Mulock and was defeated by a majority of 979.

Strand Announces New Fifth Column Serial

The "Fifth Column," vicious new military technique, forms the basis for "The Spider Returns," timely chapter-play at the Strand theatre every Saturday, commencing Saturday, July 19.

With Warren Hull featured in the title role, Columbia's thrilling serial has been hailed as a warning to saboteurs planning their foul work here in America! Portraying the celebrated crime-smasher of "The Spider" magazine stories, Hull is seen as a conscientious American citizen out to trap fiendish fifth columnists operating right on this continent.

In his efforts to smash the gigantic sabotage plot that has been developed, it is necessary for Hull to play an "amazing triple role. In addition to being Richard Wentworth, polished socialite, the young star also disguises himself as Blinky McQuade, one-eyed, shuffling underworld habitue, and as the Masked Spider, dreaded scourge of the underworld.

The management of the Strand is planning various contests for boys and girls in conjunction with the showing of the serial and it is suggested that you watch this paper next week for further information on how you can participate.

Newmarket's Victory Loan Cup Is Running Over, Citizens Take Honors, Pupil Wins Essay Contest

Newmarket not only set up something of a record by subscribing just about five times its quota in Victory bonds, but a Newmarket girl took first place in the Victory loan essay contest for Ontario elementary schools.

The winner, Eileen Jackson, daughter of Principal and Mrs. H. A. Jackson, is 11 years old (though almost 12) and a pupil at Stuart Scott school. The subject of the essay contest was "Why we must beat Hitler and how Victory bonds will help."

Her prize is a $50 Victory bond. Toronto pupils won second and third prizes.

LIONS PLAN ANNUAL CHILD WELFARE EVENT

In summer's heat members of the Newmarket Lions club are making plans for the welfare of unfortunate Newmarket children during winter's cold, and at any other time when they may need help.

The date of the annual Lions carnival has been set for Wed., Aug. 20, at a meeting of the new executive presided over by the new president, W. M. Cockburn.

Frank Courtney has again accepted the chairmanship, an assurance that the carnival will be a success, both as entertainment for the public and as a money-maker for children's welfare work.

Fred Thompson will act as chairman of a grounds and booth committee, which will relieve the general committee of a difficult job that has to be done at the last minute just when other details are demanding attention.

Substantial prizes will be offered to the holders of lucky admission tickets.

SEES NEED FOR MORE
SALVAGE COLLECTION

Lack of push and initiative in the scrap salvage campaign is noted by E. A. Sheppard, Toronto insurance man, who was in Newmarket on Tuesday.

While canvassing for the Victory loan in North York township, Mr. Sheppard found people ready to gather and give scrap but disappointed at the lack of organization and facilities for picking it up.

"We mustn't leave any stone unturned in our efforts to win the war," Mr. Sheppard said.

He felt that farmers and rural residents should make an effort to get their scrap into salvage channels.

Mr. Sheppard intends to contact the heads of some of the northern York municipalities to gain their support for a concentrated drive during the favorable summer weather.

In Newmarket the Boy Scouts have taken on the salvage collection, and have done a big job. The Era is informed by Alex. Spear, secretary-treasurer of the Newmarket Boy Scouts Association.

York Comparatively Fortunate, Moisture
Fair, Reports "Rep"*Increased Activity On Part Of Sawfly Noted By W. M. Cockburn, Hay 75 Per Cent, Wheat Average

The Newmarket district has done pretty well for moisture this year, and the county as a whole, although not quite as fortunate, has perhaps been specially favored in comparison with many other counties, The Era learned this week from W. M. Cockburn, York county agricultural representative.

In a brief review of the agricultural situation, Mr. Cockburn put the hay crop at 75 per cent of normal, not 75 per cent of last year, which was abnormally heavy. That is the average crop is 75 per cent, some farmers doing better, some worse.

"And the hay we have been well cured and well saved," Mr. Cockburn said.

"Fall wheat, now being harvested, is pretty well up to average," Mr. Cockburn said.

Mr. Cockburn regretfully noted that the fall wheat this year is showing more damage from the wheat-stem sawfly, which is so bad in western Canada.

The spring grain crops are not as good as last year. Root crops are patchy, due to lack of moisture at the right time.

Pasture is not too plentiful. Mr. Cockburn said, but there is nothing alarming in the situation. Pasture is much better than in some areas of the province where farmers are reported considering liquidating their dairy herds for a combination of reasons, including pasture shortage.

The agricultural representative, with the co-operation of farmers concerned, sprayed with chemical wheat killer four or 500 common barberry bushes in the Bogartown district last week.

MEN NEEDED FOR ACTIVE SERVICE, MESSAGE DECLARES*COLORFUL CEREMONY TAKES PLACE BESIDE FAIRY LAKE

Arriving by motorcycle sidecar, an officer courier brought a proclamation to Newmarket on Friday evening from the minister of national defence, Hon. J. L. Ralston.

The officer presented the proclamation to the mayor, Dr. L. W. Dales, in the Water St. park, by the new flagpole, where a Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes waved in the breeze.

Members of the town council were with the mayor, who read the message to citizens gathered for the ceremony.

The officer was accompanied by a detachment of soldiers, who came by army truck.

A platoon of the Queen's York Rangers, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides added to the color of the ceremony.

Dr. Dales read as follows: "A Call to Arms. Whereas liberty is threatened throughout the world by the forces of tyranny, and whereas Canada of her own free will is pledged to fight for freedom by the side of Britain, and

"Whereas the security and the welfare of every man, woman and child in Canada and of free peoples everywhere depend upon victory,

"And whereas victory cannot be assured without the help of every loyal citizen of this dominion,

"Now be it known that there is urgent need for stout-hearted able-bodied men to volunteer for active service in the Canadian army,

"Wherefore Canada sends out a call to arms, and charges all true Canadians to heed and to help."

The proclamation was dated July 1, and concluded with the words, "God Save the King."

Superintendent Hands Town Resignation

C. C. Rachar, town light and water superintendent, has put his resignation in the hands of the town council for action.

Mr. Rachar told The Era that he expected to leave at the end of July. As the town council has no further meetings scheduled until August, it is possible that the resignation will not reach the council until after Mr. Rachar has left.

It is understood that the resignation was tendered some time ago, but no action was taken on it. Mr. Rachar is believed to think that he can obtain more remunerative employment elsewhere.

WILLINGLY ACCEPTED

There was extra bookkeeping in many an office last week as unemployment insurance dues became payable. And there was pain in many a pay envelope as the new deductions coincided with the increased defence tax dues. Employers too felt the pinch of contributions to unemployment insurance.

There seems to be general acceptance of the new scheme. There are no harsh critics so far as we know. The only criticism can be for failure to start the insurance scheme years ago.

There is seeming injustice to those employers who, by the nature of their business, provide steady employment regardless of business conditions, to employees in steady-employment businesses, and to those employees of other firms who through their indispensability have steady positions for the rest of their lives.

It is short-sighted, however, for employer or employee to think of what he pays in terms of benefits to himself. Employers who never have to "lay off" an employee and employees who never draw benefits will still benefit from the scheme, and their own payments, through the greater business stability that will result from the scheme.

For that reason, we think that civil servants and municipal employees should be included in the scheme just as well as the many small businesses whose number of employees does not vary in good times or bad.

MONEY MORE PRECIOUS THAN LIVES AND LIMBS?

There are so many advocates of conscription for military service that it must have something to commend it. It is said that conscription is the fairest way to select men for the armed forces. The suggestion is that voluntary enlistment brings forth the unselfish but doesn't touch the selfish. There may be something in that, and yet the fact remains that that argument begs the question. We start with our conclusion. We are really thinking in this fashion: "Those who volunteer for military service are less selfish than those who don't. Therefore voluntary enlistment draws the unselfish and noble into the army and leaves behind the selfish slackers."

There is another way of looking at it. Voluntary enlistment is not unfair, because it takes those who want to serve in the armed forces and leaves those who don't. Those who enlist to help their fellow men, and not just out of the desire for change, excitement or adventure, want to enlist. Conscription, on the other hand, takes those who don't want to be soldiers, and possibly therefore are not fitted to be soldiers, and leaves out some who do want to be soldiers and who possibly therefore would make excellent soldiers.

But all this discussion about fairness is only a discussion as to a method of deciding which young men shall serve. It presupposes that the young men must serve and that it is their inherited right and duty to bear the burden of war. Men in their twenties may make better soldiers than men in their thirties and early forties, but that isn't the only reason that we all point at the young man and say: "It is your duty to enlist." The older groups have attained positions of influence, and as newspaper editors, business men, and politicians we are able to "gang up" on the young man and force him to get us out of the mess that we got ourselves into.

It is really callous for the older generations to thrust the younger into the battle-line without themselves making an equivalent offering. Is it their thought that it is better for young men to lose their lives than for older men to lose their economic security or to be themselves physically endangered?

It seems to us that men who are not themselves liable for military service should endeavor to look at the situation through the eyes of young men. Let them turn their editorial chairs or parliamentary seats over to young men or let them use their positions of influence as young men would use them. Do young men favor conscription, or do they feel that voluntary enlistment is better, fairer?

Or let those who urge upon young men the supreme unselfishness of risking their lives show similar unselfishness. Let them give the money that they are lending the government. Let them give up their golf and their amusements and their luxuries and leisure and go to work according to their own ability to promote the war effort. Let business men who thrust young men forward give up their own profits. Let them live on a soldier's fare and a soldier's wage. Let them enter the public forum with a clear conscience and a beamless eye.

War is no longer a gay adventure. Soldiering is no longer a profession. It is not a trade and a means of livelihood. No person can lightheartedly send another into that walk. No person should send another in without making a great sacrifice himself.

We take this war too much for granted. We don't realize how awful it is. We don't realize to what a brink we have come. The times call for desperate measures. As we call upon young men to risk their lives, and at least to give years out of their lives, we should call upon others to give up a major part of their accumulated wealth, for use to fight the war with and to give the soldiers who return a financial start in the world.

Too many people are still making money and improving their position in the world while young men are losing the best years of their lives, and are preparing to risk their lives in battle. If our civilian population were called upon to make real financial sacrifices, there would be no trouble getting volunteers by the thousands. If wealthy persons had to turn over a substantial part of their property to the state, and if all had to make similar economic sacrifices, according to their means, there would be a steady stream of recruits for military service.

As the situation stands, young men must not only make the full sacrifice by themselves, but if they are fortunate enough to return in good health they must either join the ranks of the unemployed or, if they are more fortunate, settle down to pay the interest on the war debt that has made other Canadians prosperous.

Conscription may be the most effective method of getting soldiers if the sacrifice is to be one-sided. It would be fair and justifiable, but unnecessary, if the effort were shouldered as evenly as possible by all ages and all classes in the country. Is one man's life to be offered and another's bank account spared?

IN FAVOR OF BEVERAGE ROOMS

With the voting on the beverage room question not to take place until Dec. 1, people will have lots of time to think it over, and make up their minds what will be best for the town.

Nor can there be much doubt about the outcome. Although many people will honestly decide that a beverage room would be advantageous to the town, many more, we think, will reach a different conclusion. That is natural, for there are only two or three arguments for a beverage room, and there are so many arguments against one (or several).

There are arguments in favor of a beverage room. Lots of people like to drink beer, just as other people like soft-drinks and ice cream, and it is not entirely unreasonable that there should be some place where they can drop in and have a glass of beer without having to buy half a dozen pints through a brewer's agent.

Then again the sale of beverage alcohol is still recognized as a legal means of making a livelihood, and there are people who would like to help the owners of the town's one hotel by giving them that right.

There are other people who think that a beverage room would bring business to the town, and that is admitted to be a good thing.

We can't think at the moment of any other plausible arguments in favor of a beverage room. When we hear others we propose to bring them to the attention of our readers so that they may digest and sift them. Of course we hear other arguments which we think lacking in merit. For instance, there is some illegal sale of beer in the town, and some people argue that a beverage room or rooms would eliminate bootleggers. But we are told that it doesn't work out that way. Beverage rooms create a trade for bootleggers after beverage room hours.

Some people too go astray when they see brewers' trucks in the town. They jump to the conclusion that that beer is going to a bootlegger's. Perhaps some of it does get there, but, as we understand it, most of that beer comes into town legally and legitimately for legitimate use in private homes, and is accounted for by written orders placed through brewers' agents or possibly direct to the brewers. That is perfectly legal, is open to any citizen, and makes it impossible for anyone to argue that their god-given right to consume alcoholic beverages (or to eat a peck of dirt) is greatly interfered with in Newmarket.

As a matter of fact, we have heard an estimate, possibly not far off, that people within the municipality spend $1,000 a week on alcoholic beverages. Assuming that that is correct, we wouldn't be surprised to hear a guess that $950 or more of that $1,000 is spent legally.

We have heard another estimate that if Newmarket voted in favor of the sale of beer and wine, which would mean probably the opening of two or more beverage rooms and a liquor store, Newmarket's purchases would jump to $2,000 or $3,000 a week.

A FRIENDLY HINT TO THE P.M.G.

Hon. W. P. Mulock, postmaster-general, is to be congratulated on his re-election as president of the York County Veterans Association. The Era carried this news last week, but this week we glean additional details from the Stouffville Tribune, that excellent newspaper, which says "it took less time to return Hon. Bill Mulock as president than it takes to tell it."

We also learn from the Tribune that it took the "Hon. Bill" less time to return to Ottawa "than it takes to tell it." Col. Mulock "flew down from Ottawa, spent a couple of hours with the boys, and then returned via airlines to his office at the capital that same evening." The Tribune says "Col. Mulock confided to us that he was not only looking after his own department, but had two other cabinet positions to fill for a few days during the absence of other ministers."

Nevertheless, we suggest to the "Hon. Bill" that he should plan to visit his riding at an early date and spend a couple of weeks here. Even a cabinet minister should keep in touch with his riding. When examination time comes again, "home-work" will be found to count for more than desk-work.

CHIPS AND MERRY VISIT A HANGING HOME

By RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Mr. and Mrs. Baltimore Oriole are very quiet these days." Young Chips, the little Black-capped Chickadee, observed to his mate. "I heard a few snatches of song from one of them last evening, but other than that I've scarcely heard them lately."

"They must have a young family to keep them extra busy, I think," said Merry. "My guess is that the children are not out of the nest yet, and you know how that ties the parents down. I feel so much freer now that ours are out and flying around, although in many ways it is a more worrisome time than the earlier stage."

"Yes, only yesterday Nutty Nuthatch was saying to me that the parents' easiest time is when the little ones are still quite helpless and dependent," Young Chips remarked. "It's when they get out into the world that life becomes dangerous for them and anxious for the mother and father."

"Let's go and see if we can find the Orioles and see how they are," suggested Merry. "I think I know just about where their nest is, as I've seen one or the other of them flashing by occasionally. In fact, I suspect that it's in this thick-foliage tree right over here," she said, leading the way as she spoke.

"Let's just look in this tree, because I suspect it's right here somewhere," the Chickadee lady said when they had reached the spot she had in mind. "But we'd better not scare them. Hello, Mr. and Mrs. Oriole!" she called out cheerfully. "We were just wondering how everything is with you folks? Is your nest near...?"

"Oh, I see it right this minute," she interrupted herself, as there was no sign of Mr. and Mrs. Oriole. "What a perfectly lovely hanging cradle it is! Just look at the way it is woven cleverly to the branches so that it swings in the wind."

"Yes, it's a beautiful piece of workmanship," said Young Chips, "but I wouldn't give one feather for it in comparison with our type of nest. What if there were a hurricane—why it might get blown right away. And besides, I should think that that constant swinging in the breeze would be bad for the babies' digestion."

"On the other hand, it might be just the thing to put them to sleep," mused Merry. "Maybe that's why the Orioles build it that way. All the same, I quite agree with you that it's no way to bring up a family. Oh, here's Mrs. Oriole now, with a mouthful of food for the children, so we mustn't say anything against her methods of child care."

"What a fine hanging nest you have, Mrs. Oriole," chirped Young Chips politely to the Oriole. "And how many children have you got in there? We can hear them making plenty of appeals for food."

"Five," the yellowish orange and brown bird replied proudly. "And such healthy, vigorous youngsters! It's positively exhausting to keep them fed. Would you like to take a look at them?"

"Here's Mr. Oriole, with another load of food," announced Young Chips. "How's the happy father?"

"Oh, splendid, but I'll be glad of a holiday from this eternal food-toting," replied the Oriole in his loud voice. "You've come to admire the family?"

"Yes, we were just going to take a look at them," Merry told him.

They went up to the edge of the nest and in turn pecked over.

"Mercy, all I can see is five wide-open mouths!" said Young Chips bluntly. "They've got them so far open I could almost see into their stomachs. They certainly aren't as beautiful as their father is, are they, Merry?"

"How can he be so tactless?" Merry thought to herself, and when she had taken a look, said brightly: "My how big and well-grown they are! They must be almost ready to learn to fly. How nicely their feathers are growing, too!"

"Why couldn't I have thought of something like that to say?" Young Chips asked himself. "I just said the first thing that came into my head."

"I simply can't take my eyes off you," Merry was saying to Mr. Oriole, aware that her remarks were making her quite popular. "You have the most stunning costume. That bright orange and black combination is simply lovely. It must be a great joy to you to have such a handsome husband, Mrs. Oriole!"

This was too much for Young Chips, and he hastily suggested that they had better be getting back to see how the young Chickadees were behaving.

"It's all very well to admire someone else's babies," Young Chips told Merry firmly, as they flew home again, "but when it comes to admiring her husband, too, then I think you're going too far."

"Nonsense," Merry replied, equally firmly. "That Oriole gentleman is so good-looking that everyone thinks he's simply gorgeous, and why shouldn't they say so. However, I'm sure his disposition isn't half so friendly and cheerful as yours, my dear," she added with a smile. "After all, there's no one just like a Chickadee when it comes to good spirits."

"That's better," Young Chips muttered, somewhat more happily.

TWO SIDES TO STORY, STATES P. W. PEARSON

My dear friend Hobbs: During the course of a long life I have seen how easy it is for people to condemn the actions and deeds of public men. Very often this is done on partial or false information. It is so easy to impute false motives regarding public transactions.

In your article to Brading Brewery you quote the assessed value, indicating a ridiculous price had been paid for a property in which a person favorable to the government was interested.

You do not have to go outside Newmarket to find assessment of factory buildings at even more ridiculous figures.

I enclose a clipping from this morning's Globe that throws some light on this subject—most questions have two sides.

Enclosed find cheque for Era. Yours sincerely,

Purchase of Ottawa Brewery Is Explained by the Company

The following statement by Canadian Breweries Ltd. is a reply to an article by Mr. R. A. Reid, K.C., of Toronto, which appeared in this space on June 13 last:

"The purchase of the expropriation of the property of the Brading Brewery Ltd. by the Dominion government:

1. The Brading brewery, situated on the north side of Wellington St., Ottawa, has been operated on its present site for 75 years. It has always been a profitable property, and is currently earning a very good return on more than $1,000,000.

2. The plan to make Ottawa a national capital worthy of a new and growing country originated in 1897, and in 1899 the Ottawa Improvement Commission was formed. Since then millions of dollars' worth of property has been acquired at various times by the government from private interests.

In 1912 plans were announced to make the north side of Wellington St., on which street the Brading plant is located, purely a government area. At that time the government bought to within 150 yards of the Brading brewery, which purchases included a competitor brewery, a departmental store, the former head office of the Bank of Ottawa, and many other buildings.

In the years succeeding the Great War the government commenced to develop the north side of Wellington St. and erected thereon the Confederation and Justice buildings, and later the Supreme Court building, and large temporary buildings to house the department of munitions and supply during the present war.

The scheme further progressed until 1936, when Jacques Greber, city planner and architect, was commissioned to recommend the course future developments should take. Mr. Greber rendered his report in February, 1938, and it was later adopted by the government and the city and received widespread publicity.

Plans Published by Press

Plans as published in the press showed that the report recommended the acquisition of many city blocks of property in which were then situated numerous apartments, commercial and industrial buildings; in all, property worth many million dollars. The Greber report made it quite clear that the Brading property would eventually be required by the government.

3. In August, 1938, after the Greber plan had been adopted by both the government and the city of Ottawa, the government gave notice to all land-owners, from the Parley Home property west to the end of that part of Wellington St. and to all the south side of Wellington from Bank to Bronson and on the north side of Sparks St. within that area, that their property would be purchased by expropriation.

On Aug. 17, 1938, the company received formal notification of the expropriation of its entire property.

4. The Brading company had previously formulated plans for the improvement and expansion of its plant to properly care for its expanding business and to safeguard its earnings. The expropriation by the government seriously affected such plans.

5. Following the notice of expropriation the company employed brewery architects and engineers to determine the cost of constructing a new plant, and it was found that such could not be built and put in operation at a cost of less than $1,000,000. The company was anxious to rebuild immediately, but could not do so because it had not been paid by the government.

6. The government took no action after it served the notice of expropriation for several months, apart from instructing a solicitor to examine titles, but eventually in 1939 appointed architects, engineers and real estate experts and later in 1940 obtained reports from chartered accountants and a technical expert in the employ of National friends.

The Common Round

FISH

By Isabel Inglis Colville

In these days when the whole world, physically and morally, is running a temperature, it's delightful to think of the deep, cool places where fish lie hidden.

I hold no brief for the fisherman, although I enjoy his loot. My better half has an unshaken conviction it's because I must keep quiet that fishing has no lure for me. Be that as it may, I want to pass on a few hints which we received at our last Institute meeting, from Miss Davis, the fish expert, who spoke to us.

It was a joy to watch her as she manipulated her slippery charges. Her first achievement was to boil a two-pound piece of halibut.

She begged us not to plump our fish into water to wash it, but to take salt and water and bathe it nicely. Then another don't was—not to wrap it in cheesecloth or just stick it into boiling water, get a new kind of parchment which could be washed and used over and over.

So she took a large square of this paper, laid her fish in it, tied it up like a Christmas pudding—by the way, she said this paper was splendid for Christmas pudding boiling—then she set a jar ring—metal—in a dish containing two inches of boiling water—her fish was two inches thick—and left it to boil for 20 minutes.

She said ten minutes per pound for fish not frozen, 13 minutes a pound if the fish were put on to boil while frozen. The results proved she knew her fish.

Then there was a fish salad that was excellent. We sampled it, so we speak whereof we know. The following quantities serve from six to eight persons.

1 cup cooked, flaked fish (any kind)
1 cup celery
1 cup apple
¼ cup shredded pineapple
¼ teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup salad dressing.

Then there was a baked fish dish. I think she used fillets of white fish. She washed it, cut it into servings for as many as she wished and laid it in a pan which had been greased with oil—she preferred oil to butter as it did not scorch.

Over this she spread a layer of poultry dressing—exactly what most of us make for chicken—and lastly she shredded side bacon over all. She called this "fish crispies" and they were good.

They were easily prepared and palatable summer dishes when fish is plentiful and not too expensive.

She made us feel that we need far too little fish.

One thing she said which rather surprised me—and it was about canned salmon.

I've always had a marked objection to using the pink kind. But she maintained that the pink, on which "Canada" appeared on the lid, was good.

For her salad she used one tin of red and one tin of pink "Canada" on the lid of either pink or red, spelled tops in salmon. The others were grade marked.

I still don't see eye to eye with her about the pink salmon, but who am I to contradict an expert?

When she finished her oration, I was almost tempted to go home, steal my best beloved's treasured fishing rod, thumb my way to the lake, and risk my life in a mad effort to catch a fish, then send my way home—ward—and cook it!

I did none of these things, but the fact remains that these recipes are good recipes—try them and prove for yourselves. The men who are kind enough to tell me they read these rounds will, no doubt, provide the material for their wives to work on.

Breweries Ltd., a competitor.

7. While all this was taking place the company's operating position was becoming extremely critical through the inadequacy of the plant to properly care for its expanding business.

Company Sought Action

8. Finally, in the summer of 1940 the company asked in writing that in all fairness the government adopt one of two courses of procedure: either (1) abandon the expropriation and return the property to the company so that badly needed improvements could be proceeded with, or (2) pay for the property so that the company could rebuild elsewhere.

9. As the government had by this time expropriated all property surrounding the plant, including several other industrial plants, it informed the company that the acquisition of the property would be proceeded with.

10. The company had asked $1,000,000 as compensation, the government offered $550,000 and the right of the company to retain the machinery. This offer was considered by the company to be very considerably less than a fair price.

But for the reasons that the country was at war and because of the anxiety of the company to rebuild before forecasted restrictions were imposed, the company agreed to accept the government's offer.

11. The case was referred to the Exchequer Court of Canada, and on Nov. 14, 1940, the action coming on for judgment on the pleadings before this court and the company by its defence having accepted the offer made by the government in the information filed, the court gave judgment in the amount offered by the government.

Payment Made Last April

12. After the judgment had been rendered the company was entitled to immediate payment but did not receive it until April 24, 1941.

Immediately after this the government introduced restrictions against new industrial construction which made it impossible for the company to rebuild.

13. The company has now an application before the government for permission to expend $125,000 on the property, which it no longer owns, and for an extension of the present lease to hide the company over until the end of the war.

14. There was no secrecy in this matter. The government's intention and its expropriation proceedings to acquire the extensive properties recommended in the Greber report have received frequent mention in the press since the publication of the report in February, 1938, and particularly the expropriation of the Brading property has been publicized many times between 1938 and 1941.

The proceedings in the exchequer court were in all respects regular and in conformity with the practice where a defendant accepts an offer made by the government.

NOW OFFERING

POLICE COURT

Highway Drinkers Break Jail Doors And Windows

Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe fined Harry A. Carnduff $10 and costs or ten days, and Norman Holmes and Joseph Ross $15 and costs or 15 days, on charges of vagrancy, in Newmarket police court last Thursday. The three Toronto men pleaded guilty to the charges.

Harry Carnduff and Norman Holmes, who also pleaded guilty to damaging the jail at Bradford to the extent of $8, were ordered to pay damages of $4 each or serve an additional ten days each.

"On Saturday, June 28, at about 8:30 p.m., as a result of information received, I proceeded to East Gwillimbury on highway number 11," testified Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson. "On my arrival there I found Carnduff on top of Ross, they were hitting each other. I no sooner separated them than they got together again. When I tried to get a car to take them to the lock-up, Ross and Holmes began fighting. The officer stated that he had to separate the fighters about eight or ten times.

"Where did this take place?" Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., asked.

"About a mile from the River-view Inn," replied the witness.

"Was there much traffic?"

"Yes, there was a large crowd of people collected, and traffic was tied up considerably."

Asked if the fight was sufficient to cause a disturbance, the officer replied: "It certainly was, it was a very large disturbance. The men were loud and abusive. They had been drinking. Ross screamed at times."

Constable Ferguson went on to say that the men told him that they had come from Toronto in a Norman Holmes' truck, but that they would not tell him the cause of the quarrel. He said that he took the three men to the jail in Bradford and then took Ross to Newmarket jail. When he returned to the Bradford jail at 10:30, Holmes and Carnduff were both asleep. Later they had broken the door and windows and smashed the stove pipes and benches of the lock-up.

"Did they say why they damaged the cell?" asked the crown.

"According to their statement they wanted to get out," replied the officer.

"Who told you they wanted to get out?" Both Holmes and Carnduff.

Provincial Constable Cecil F. Deano, who assisted Constable Ferguson in the arrest, and who was called to testify, stated: "Constable Ferguson left Bradford about 10:15 p.m., and at that time both Holmes and Carnduff were asleep in the jail. Following a complaint at 11:30 p.m., I returned to the jail and found two benches smashed and the window and stove-pipe broken. I locked one of the defendants in a cell and when I returned later I found that he had broken the door of the cell and smashed a board or two in the main door."

Asked if they had anything to say, Mr. Carnduff stated that they had spent 24 hours in the jail without any drinking water.

"You were only in jail about one and a half hours when you smashed the windows," commented the crown.

Constable Ferguson advised his worship that an attendant, although not continually at the jail, presented himself every so often. He said that the men did not ask him for water.

"What about you, Carnduff, have you a record?" asked his worship.

"I never have been in trouble before," was the reply.

"These are good men to keep away from them," commented the magistrate.

A charge of failing to produce a commercial vehicle permit at the request of the police officer, against Canadian Breweries, Toronto, was dismissed when the driver of the truck explained that he had had a permit at the time but it had been lost among the glass and bottles when the truck had been driving skidded into the ditch.

Constable Kenneth Mount testified that on June 7 at 8:30 p.m. he was called to the scene of an accident on Huron St. where he found the truck turned over in the ditch at the side of the road. He said that a faulty steering-geer and the bad bumps in the road were responsible for the accident. When he asked to see the permit it was not to be found.

Seven Toronto motorists driving at 45 miles an hour through Aurora were fined $8 and costs: Allen Pratt, Bessie Breckenridge, Roofers Supply Co., James D. Woods, Haines and David Ltd., Samuel Baines and A. E. Hankins.

Other motorists timed by Constable Fisher Dunham in Aurora were: Gladys Hergarden, Brampton, fined $8 and costs for going 45 miles an hour; Dorothy McKee-John, Toronto, Roy Bolton, Weston, Gordon B. Heening, Cooksville, fined $6 and costs each for going 43 miles an hour; and Milton Rose, Toronto, fined $5 and costs for going over 40 miles an hour.

POLICE COURT

Manslaughter Charges Adjourned Till Aug. 12

"You can drink that stuff in your own home but not outside," Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe told Ross Campbell Baines, Toronto, in Newmarket police court on Tuesday. The defendant pleaded guilty to having liquor illegally in his car at Musselman's Lake.

County Constable Ronald Watt told his worship that on June 23 he came upon Mr. Baines drinking in his car.

The defendant said that he had not as yet taken a drink when the officer interrupted him.

"I had the beer all frothed up and I intended taking a drink," he stated.

"Only the police officer got there too quickly for you," commented the magistrate.

"Yes, I guess so," replied Mr. Baines. He was fined $10 and costs.

His worship bound Harry Muir and Thomas Wright, Toronto, in the sum of $2,000 to appear in police court on Aug. 12 to answer charges of manslaughter.

The charge is that they "by wilful misconduct while driving an automobile on the ninth concession (of Whitechurch) did unlawfully cause the death of James Thomas (of Toronto)." Constable Robert Windsor investigated the accident, which happened on July 7.

Gordon McLeod, Newmarket military camp, was fined $10 and costs or ten days for failing to have a 1941 driver's license and $2 and costs for not having lights on his car.

"On June 21, in the township of Whitechurch, I stopped a car driven by the accused," testified Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson. "There were no lights on the car and when I asked the driver to show me his driver's license he handed me a 1940 permit."

"What excuse did he give you for not having proper lights?" asked the magistrate.

"He said that they went out on him," replied the officer.

"He knew that they were out."

Thomas Senior, Thornhill, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving on north Yonge and Avenue Road, was fined $5 and costs or ten days in jail and had his driver's license taken away.

Joseph Orr, Richmond Hill, who was working on the road at the time of the accident, testified that he saw the car pass the burner which was being used to loosen the pavement. He stated that he believed the driver was trying to avoid the smoke and fire from the burner which was "crossways on the road."

"The car swerved on the road towards the ditch," he stated. "It travelled in a zig-zag manner about 150 feet, crossed a ditch and over a bank."

Constable Ferguson, who investigated, stated: "On June 20, I arrived at the scene of an accident at about 1:30 p.m. and found the car driven by Thomas Senior in an accident. Mrs. Senior was injured considerably. Mr. Senior was injured and suffered from shock. They were both taken to the Wellesley hospital."

Asked to give his story the defendant said that he and his wife were on their way to Toronto and that he was driving at about 30 miles an hour.

"As I came to the place where men were working, I had a dizzy spell," he stated. "I don't know what happened until I came to after the accident."

"Are you subject to spells?" asked his worship.

"No," was the reply. "This is the first. I am 65 years of age. I have been driving a long time and this is the first time I have been in police court."

"I recommend that you do not drive any more," advised Magistrate Woodliffe. "A person that is subject to spells should not be driving. Your driver's permit will be returned to the department."

Because he drove his truck, with trailer attached, at a speed of 60 miles an hour, Albert Fry, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs.

"The trailer at the high speed was whipping considerably," stated Constable Ferguson. "I had received complaints and had been watching this trailer for some time."

A charge of careless driving on June 22 against William Wilson, Toronto, was dismissed.

"I think this is a case which should go to the civil court and be decided there," stated the magistrate.

Milton Thoburn, Richmond Hill, driver of a car going south on Yonge St., which was involved in an accident with the defendant's car, testified that he had been returning from Bond Lake at the time of the accident.

Questioned by Joseph Vale, who was acting in place of Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., Mr. Thoburn stated: "We were proceeding south on Yonge St. and I had to make a left-hand turn into the driveway of my sister's home."

Before coming to Hall's gas station, north of Elgin Mills, I cut into the centre lane and when I came to the station I looked through the rear-view mirror and put my hand out. I was just going to make the turn when a car came along and collided with my car." He did not know where the car came from.

Cross-examined by Defence Counsel Kenneth Stiver, the witness stated that at the time of the accident he had in his car his wife, his sister, brother-in-law and two children. The mirror was situated in the centre of the car.

Arthur Ellis, Elgin Mills, brother-in-law of the former witness, stated that he did not see the Wilson car coming from behind.

"On June 22 at about 5:45 p.m. I arrived at the scene of the accident," testified Constable Ferguson. "I found a car driven by William Wilson with its front end embedded in a tree on the east side of the road. I also found a car driven by Milton Thoburn between two trees on the east side of the road. Both cars were a total wreck. I followed marks from the Wilson car. There were tire burns for 40 feet."

In his defence, Mr. Wilson stated that he had been driving to Toronto. "I was just proceeding to see Mr. Thoburn. When I was almost behind his back fender, I honked my horn just as he put out his hand. Both cars went into the trees."

"Did he give any indication that he was going to turn?" asked Mr. Stiver.

"No, he made a left-hand turn just as I went to pass," replied the defendant.

John Brown, Toronto, who was driving in a car behind the Wilson and Thoburn cars, stated that the defendant's car had turned out into the middle lane to pass that of Mr. Thoburn, which was in the right-hand lane. "He honked his horn before he started to pass," stated the witness.

"In this case it appears to me that Mr. Thoburn should have seen Mr. Wilson," commented his worship. "It is possible that Mr. Wilson's car was in the position that he said that it was and could not be seen in Mr. Thoburn's mirror. Mr. Thoburn should have looked out the side of his car and he would have seen it."

A charge of driving at 45 miles an hour on Eagle St., Newmarket, was dismissed when Arthur Fleet, Toronto, who pleaded not guilty to the offence, told his worship that he had evidence that he was on duty at the Newmarket military camp on the night in question.

"Someone must have taken my car out without my permission," Fleet stated.

"Have you made any attempts to find out who was driving your car?" asked his worship.

"No, I have been changed to Camp Borden since," replied the defendant. Constable Kenneth Mount told his worship that there were four or five soldiers in the car at the time he noticed it.

A charge of speeding on Eagle St. against Janet Pringle, Toronto, was dismissed when the defendant pleaded that she had taken her car to a garage to have its motor looked after. In her letter she stated that she had not been driving the car when the officer timed it, but that the garage man had it out to test it.

"Why did he have to bring it to Newmarket then?" Constable Mount asked with a smile.

The case of Joseph Myers, Newmarket, was adjourned until July 16. Charges laid by Constable Ferguson are: (1) "unlawfully driving a motor-car on highway 11 without due care and attention and without reasonable consideration of other persons using the highway," (2) "being an interdicted person, did unlawfully have liquor in his possession or under his control," (3) "have liquor in a place other than his residence, namely, in a motor vehicle," (4) "having been prohibited by an order of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario from having liquor, including beer and wine, in his possession, did unlawfully have beer."

Other cases adjourned until next week were: Neal B. Sinclair, Toronto, Wauhaushene Motors, James Criddle, Toronto, and Mrs. E. M. Ross, Toronto, all charged with speeding. John Napier, Toronto, dangerous driving and leaving the scene of an accident, Gordon Tripp, Pickering, illegal possession, and George Alfred Snelling, Toronto, illegal possession.

Thirty cases of speeding were presented before Magistrate Woodliffe, four of which were dismissed and five adjourned until next week. Those who received fines were: Albert Fry, Toronto, fined $10 and costs for driving at 60 miles an hour on Yonge St. and G. V. Fisk, Toronto, fined $10 and costs for travelling 50 miles an hour through Aurora.

Other motorists who drove at 45 miles an hour through Aurora and who received fines of $8 and costs were: W. B. Hamilton Shoe Co., Dalgleish Ont. Ltd., George Pandolf, John Partanen, all of Toronto, and Newell Porritt of Georgetown.

For driving at 50 miles an hour on Eagle St., Newmarket, Norman Allen, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs. Dorothy Doan, Jacob Davidowitch, Robert Clenny, Mrs. Edith Walton, L. Rawlinson, Julius Bernstein, Soldiers' Settlement of Canada, Arnold Hickett, all of Toronto, George Nagel, Weston, Fred C. Irvine, Weston, and Harry Van-Lanen, Willowdale, were each fined $3 and costs for driving 45 miles an hour through Newmarket.

Raymond H. Holden, Toronto, who said that he didn't know that he was in Newmarket, was fined $5 and costs for going over 40 miles an hour.

For having faulty brakes on his car, Richard H. Tawn, Stouffville, was fined $10 and costs.

In Memoriam

Barker—In loving memory of my dear husband, Harry Barker, who died July 12, 1937.

You left sweet memories to blossom
Heating fruit for the years to come
In the lives of those who loved you
Precious memories of days that are gone
Ever remembered by his wife.

Cutting—In loving memory of John Cutting, who died July 9, 1939.

Oh and oft our thoughts do wander
To the grave not far away,
Where we laid our dear father
Just two years ago today.
—Janie and Ambrose

In honored memory of Joel Thompson and Elizabeth Thompson, my dear parents, also my dear son, Lloyd Prosser, who passed away July 12, 1938, in his 41st year.

Sad and lonely we often think
Of the dear son gone before,
And sometimes we even long for the time,
When we'll meet on that other shore.

Always remembered by his mother and brothers, Joel and Stanley.

DOWN THE CENTRE
Military Camp have had a shake-up in their softball team with the removal of certain troops to other centres and only three of their starting team remain, in the persons of Niles, Gantner, the second baseman, and Menzies. These three were the pick of the originals and are good enough to catch a place anywhere.
Ken Mackle, a strapping youngster, is now handling the catching berth. He is from Toronto and had a trial in the Beaches fastball league previous to reporting. Grant Johnston from Pickering is now at first and with his height makes a fine target to throw at. Angelo Viscontia, from Toronto Mount Carmel's, is a neat fielding third sacker.
The outfield has Albert Wyton from Rose Juniors, Howard Allard from DeHavilland's and Frank Rowarth from the Playgrounds. None of this trio measures up to Tommy Bunker, the centrefielder flash who is gone. The boys, however, will likely present a changed line-up every game, but they can be depended upon to keep their engagements and to have a team that is dangerous to the last pitched ball. They have had two postponements so far, but will make these up in the second half of the schedule just started.
New sweaters make Aurora look the neatest team in the league. Manager Simmons picked up at bargain prices a nifty maroon sweater piped at the shoulders and neck with a white and gold check. It is said to be a favorite in American softball circles and just being introduced into Canada. They received a good baptism with the team snapping out of its slump to defeat the Military Camp 8-6 right within the bounds of the camp.
Joint McComb pitched as good a game of softball last week as he has ever pitched. The fact that Charlie VanZant was catching him may have had something to do with that. It has frequently been said he is a sidearm thrower. We paid particular attention to his delivery, as did Umpire Lorne Ramsay and the camp team to this point and he did nothing illegal all night. We can't deny he has tossed sidearmers occasionally, but when he attends to straight pitching he can really go, except for a bit of wildness.
Wes. Niles, as a relief hurler, is in a class of his own. We don't know what the strategy is all about, but he hasn't been used much as starting tosser. Perhaps

CANADIAN INDUSTRY AN EMPIRE BULWARK
Never in the history of human conflict has industrial capacity, skill and production efficiency counted for so much as it does in the present national emergency.
Fortunate indeed are we, therefore, that Canada's comparatively young but virile industrial set-up had been developed to its present high efficiency, otherwise we could not have made the contribution expected of us and so vital to the success of our cause. Management and men of industry, quick to respond to the call of Empire, mobilized its forces with remarkable adaptability, swinging rapidly into production of much needed mechanized units, munitions and equipment of all kinds.
Rounding out our national activities in a more balanced economy, Canadian industry has in addition to serving well the home market, developed a substantial and profitable export business. The industrial areas, too, provide ready and profitable markets for our own agricultural products. But great as may be its peace-time contribution to the wealth of Canada, Canadian industry rises to new attainments in the contribution being made in producing the requirements of mechanized warfare.
Massey-Harris is proud of the part it has been permitted to play in the development of Canada so far and in the defence of its dearly treasured traditions and of democracy in general.

By I. SEYMOUR

Several days ago we had the opportunity of seeing the reason why the German "blitz" of last September failed to bring England to her knees as Hitler had anticipated after the collapse of France. We are referring to the "Churchill's Island," the latest in the "Canada Carries On" series, released a short while ago. This subject takes you behind the scenes, and you see for the first time some of the fortifications which are awaiting the "panzer divisions" if and when they try to cross the channel. It also depicts the work of the R.A.F. and the Royal Navy, but perhaps the most interesting subjects are the shots taken from confiscated German films which the Nazis try to smuggle on the Yankee Clipper which stops off at Bermuda on the way from Portugal.
Having acceded to David O.
Selznick's request not to use the title, "Gone With the Draft," for a service cartoon comedy, Leon Schlesinger is going to take a chance on Universal's reaction by calling it "Half Buck Privates."

Although Billy Conn could not knock out Joe Louis, he did manage to knock off a movie contract to appear in Octavus Roy Cohen's "Kid Tinsel." This comedy is scheduled to go into production at Republic in two weeks.
Warner Brothers have assigned Michael Curtiz to direct "Captains of the Clouds," the story of the Royal Canadian Air Force.
Curtiz recently finished "Dive Bomber," a Warner picture, co-starring Errol Flynn and Fred MacMurray.

The talent of Frank Capra and the acting of Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck have been combined to give you one of the best comedies of the year, "Meet John Doe." This picture runs along the same lines as "Mr.
Deeds Goes to Town," which was the 1936 Academy Award winner by the same director, and with the same leading man. This picture was also acclaimed for the fine performance turned in by Barbara Stanwyck, this being her second performance since her return to the screen in Preston Sturges' comedy, "The Lady Eve."

More suspense, more sincerity, more timely than a thousand others, as important as a speech by Winston Churchill, these are the words used by movie critics to describe "Underground." It is the story of the German freedom radio, a story of men who die for an ideal so that others may live.
Their nobleness and idealism isn't demonstrated, but plainly realized by the spectator.

"Orchids to Charlie," the special film which is being produced as a benefit to British children, will be premiered in Los Angeles in August. It is in technicolor and will be shown in England as well as throughout the United States. All proceeds will go toward British juvenile relief.

Robert Benchley, noted humorist and screen star, has been signed by Columbia for a feature role in "You'll Never Get Rich," new film musical, with Fred Astaire and Rita Hayworth.

Benny Rubin returns to the screen after an absence of five years. He will be seen in Robert Montgomery's next comedy, "
Heaven Can Wait."

"Five Men," a tense drama, said to be one of the most expensive British pictures ever made, has one of the most important casts ever assembled for a British picture, with Leslie Howard, Raymond Massey, Laurence Olivier and Anton Wal-brook in the leading roles. The company travelled from England to Canada to make all location scenes for the picture, which tells the story of a group of Nazi submarine survivors, in their efforts to make their way across to Canada to safety in the United States. The working title of this film was "49th Parallel," and was made by Michael Powell, who made the outstanding "U-Boat 20."

We have just learned of a tour undertaken by George Formby throughout the entire blitzed areas, with the object of raising fifty thousand pounds for air-raid distress in these localities.
The expenses are being paid by the star himself. He is also arranging a broadcast and will ask 40,000,000 listeners to subscribe a shilling each.

Well, Twila, you get your pass

ZEPHYR
MEYERS FAMILY HOLDS
6TH ANNUAL REUNION

The sixth annual Meyers reunion was held at Jackson's Point park last Friday.

A pleasant day was spent and 90 sat down to supper. The president, Allen Meyers, Scarboro Bluffs, called the assembly together and expressed his pleasure at the large gathering and welcomed all present. Several faces were missing, some on account of sickness and one who had, during the year, been called by death.

The sports committee had a splendid program, conducted by Clifford Meyers. This brought much fun both to those who took part and those who looked on.
Various prizes were given in the different contests. Prizes were given to Joseph Meyers, Kent county, for travelling the farthest to attend, Edward Meyers, Stouffville (father of the president), the oldest member present, and to Gerald Hibbert, the youngest present.

Officers were elected for another year: president, Allen Meyers; vice-president, Edward Strasler; secretary, Mrs. Wm.
Black.

An offering was taken and after the expenses were paid a donation of $15 was sent to the British war victims' fund. Mr.
Sellers was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. Another reunion was planned for the first Friday in July, 1942.
